IMPORTANT STATEMENTS

Standard Postgraduate Regulations

Your studies will be governed by the BCU Academic Regulations on Assessment, Progression and Awards. Copies of regulations can be found at https://www.bcu.ac.uk/student-info/student-contract

For courses accredited by professional bodies such as the IET (Institution of Engineering and Technology) there are some derogations from the standard regulations and these are detailed in your Programme Handbook

Cheating and Plagiarism

Both cheating and plagiarism are totally unacceptable and the University maintains a strict policy against them. It is YOUR responsibility to be aware of this policy and to act accordingly. Please refer to the Academic Registry Guidance at https://icity.bcu.ac.uk/Academic-Services/Information-for-Students/Assessment/Avoiding-Allegations-of-Cheating

The basic principles are:

- Don't pass off anyone else's work as your own, including work from "essay banks". This is plagiarism and is viewed extremely seriously by the University.
- Don't submit a piece of work in whole or in part that has already been submitted for assessment elsewhere. This is called duplication and, like plagiarism, is viewed extremely seriously by the University.
- Always acknowledge all of the sources that you have used in your coursework assignment or project.
- If you are using the exact words of another person, always put them in quotation marks.
- Check that you know whether the coursework is to be produced individually or whether you can work with others.
- If you are doing group work, be sure about what you are supposed to do on your own.
- Never make up or falsify data to prove your point.
- Never allow others to copy your work.
- Never lend disks, memory sticks or copies of your coursework to any other student in the University; this may lead you being accused of collusion.

By submitting coursework, either physically or electronically, you are confirming that it is your own work (or, in the case of a group submission, that it is the result of joint work undertaken by members of the group that you represent) and that you have read and understand the University's guidance on plagiarism and cheating.

You should be aware that coursework may be submitted to an electronic detection system in order to help ascertain if any plagiarised material is present. You may check your own work prior to submission using Turnitin at the Formative Moodle Site. If you have queries about what constitutes plagiarism, please speak to your module tutor or the Centre for Academic Success.

Electronic Submission of Work

It is your responsibility to ensure that work submitted in electronic format can be opened on a faculty computer and to check that any electronic submissions have been successfully uploaded. If it cannot be opened it will not be marked. Any required file formats will be specified in the assignment brief and failure to comply with these submission requirements will result in work not being marked. You must retain a copy of all electronic work you have submitted and re-submit if requested.

Learning Outcomes to be Assessed:

1. Examine the Process View of integrated project delivery.
2. Analyse BIM standards and protocols using the Process View.
3. Propose and justify new practices for the effective delivery of integrated projects.
4. Critically analyse a process view in a BIM environment.

Title: Business Report

Style: 3,000 word report

Executive summary, references, flowcharts, appendices list are not included in the word count

Rationale: Across the international construction sector there continues to be momentum to transform. This is often driven by the Government's commitment to facilitate digital information delivery enabled through Building Information Modelling (BIM) on public procured projects to derive better outcomes from their built assets. This commitment to working with the industry in facilitating the transformation has led to the provision of a set of supporting standards, protocols, classification system, documentation, etc.; defined in the BIM mandate of the UK for example, which are now beginning to be developed for the international market.

In this context, this assessment has two options. You are advised to read through both before deciding on one of the options:

Description:

Option 1 – Application of module material to a project or organisation You have been employed by a Government Department as a project management consultant for the procurement of a new project. The design and construction consultants (architects, engineers, contractors etc.) for the project have not yet been appointed. You can choose a Government Department either in the UK or in any other country. For reference, a list of the UK Government Departments and what they do is available at the following link https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations. As part of your role, you have been asked to define the BIM related documents and amendments to existing documentation that would be necessary to manage and control this project in line with the Government's current BIM recommendations.
You should consider the standards, protocols, documentation, etc. necessary and explain their purpose, contents and requirements specifically to the delivery of the project in line with the Government's requirements. Content lists of major BIM documents should be provided as an Appendix. This is to demonstrate you understand the purpose of these documents and the categories of information and decisions necessary to complete them.

You should provide a flowchart of the sequence of the documents and the interactions required in support of your discussion – 25% of the marks will be related to the flowchart provided.

Option 2 – Application of module material to a project or organisation
You have been asked to review one of a private company's existing projects against current standards. This may be a project you have worked on or can access information about. Indicate what has been instigated to meet the BIM requirements and where the project falls short.
You should consider the standards, protocols, documentation, etc. necessary and explain their purpose, contents and requirements specifically to the delivery of the project in line with that defined by local BIM requirements. Content lists of major BIM documents should be provided as an Appendix. This is to demonstrate you understand the purpose of these documents and the categories of information and decisions necessary to complete them.
You should provide a flowchart of the sequence of the documents and the interactions required in support of your discussion. 25% of the marks will be related to the flowchart provided.

Late Penalties

If you submit an assessment late at the first attempt then you will be subject to one of the following penalties:

- if the submission is made between 1 and 24 hours after the published deadline the original mark awarded will be reduced by 5%. For example, a mark of 60% will be reduced by 3% so that the mark that the student will receive is 57%. ;
- if the submission is made between 24 hours and one week (5 working days) after the published deadline the original mark awarded will be reduced by 10%. For example, a mark of 60% will be reduced by 6% so that the mark the student will receive is 54%.
- if the submission is made after 5 days following the deadline, your work will be deemed as a fail and returned to you unmarked.

The reduction in the mark will not be applied in the following two cases:

- the mark is below the pass mark for the assessment. In this case the mark achieved by the student will stand
- where a deduction will reduce the mark from a pass to a fail. In this case the mark awarded will be the threshold (i.e. 50%)

Please note:

- If you submit a re-assessment late then it will be deemed as a fail and returned to you unmarked.

Feedback:

Marks and Feedback on your work will normally be provided within 30 working days of its submission deadline.
